Getting to Helsinki

Most attendees will arrive to Helsinki via Helsinki-Vantaa airport. To get to the city centre you can take train, bus or taxi.

Plan your journey and check timetables of public transport here: <http://www.reittiopas.fi/en/>

Getting to the city centre by train (convenient for Radisson Blu Plaza hotel):

There is the Ring Rail Line connecting airport with the central railway station. You can take either direction as travel time is about the same (30 mins). Trains go every 10 mins. Tickets can be bought at the ticket machines on the platform or from the conductor on the train only in carriages which have corresponding marking. You need a regional ticket (5.50€).

Getting to city by bus (convenient for AVA hotel):

Buses may go less regularly than trains (every 30 minutes during weekends) and it takes slightly longer to get to the city (about 40 minutes), but for those staying at AVA hotel the bus connection may be more convenient. Buses stop on request. Take bus line 615 from platform 12 (Terminal 1), or platform 25 (Terminal 2). Tickets can be bought at the ticket machines on the platform or from the driver. You need a regional ticket (5.50€). For AVA hotel get off at the 'Mäkelänrinne' bus stop and walk for 500 m. For AVA hotel you can also take Finnair City Bus from platform 11 (Terminal 1) or platform 10 (Terminal 2). Ticket to city centre costs 6.20€ and can be bought from the driver.

Getting to city centre by taxi:

Taxi costs about 50-70 €.

More information about getting from the airport to the city is here:

<http://www.finavia.fi/en/helsinki-airport/to-and-from/train-buses-and-taxis/>

Plan your journey and check timetables of public transport here: <http://www.reittiopas.fi/en/>

Getting around Helsinki

Public transport in the Helsinki region connects several cities and municipalities, including Helsinki, Vantaa and Espoo. The airport is in Vantaa; FMI and the city are in Helsinki. One-zone tickets are valid for one city and are less expensive than a regional ticket (valid for Helsinki, Vantaa and Espoo). Once you have arrived from the airport, a Helsinki one-zone ticket should be adequate for your stay. More information is here: <https://www.hsl.fi/en/information/how-use-public-transport>

To travel in Helsinki you can buy single tickets (valid for 60 mins) or daily tickets. You can buy 1 to 7 days tickets. If you are staying in the city centre it may be advisable to buy a 5-day ticket since public transport tickets are also valid for ferries to Suomenlinna. More information about tickets and fares is available here: <https://www.hsl.fi/en/tickets-and-fares>

If you are staying in AVA hotel you can walk to Dynamicum (walking distance is about 1.5 km).

If you are staying in Hotel Radisson Blu Plaza, the options to travel to the meeting venue are taxi, a local bus or a local tram. Public transport details are here:
